

“ Old Margaret ” of Lake Macquarie.

AN old identity among the original blacks in this district is reported to be in a very feeble state—so much so that she is unable to travel into Newcastle for her usual yearly “blanket dole.” The aged personage in question is “old Margaret” of Lake Macquarie, the last remaining representative of the Lake aboriginals. It will be recollected that some time ago, from representations made to Sir Henry Parkes, a portion of ground on which she and some of her children resided, near the Lake entrance, was granted to her for her lifetime.

Newcastle Morning Herald & Miners Advocate, 16th June 1881 p.2.

“Old Margaret” of Lake Macquarie

An old identity among the original blacks in this district is reported to be in a very feeble state – so much so that she is unable to travel into Newcastle for her usual yearly “blanket dole.” The aged personage in question is “Old Margaret” of Lake Macquarie, the last remaining representative of the Lake aboriginals. It will be recollected that some time ago from representations made to Sir Henry Parkes, a portion of ground on which she and some of her children resided, near the Lake entrance, was granted to her for her lifetime.