SIR ALISTER McMULLIN RELINQUISHES CHANCELLORSHIP

Sir Alister McMullin, K.C.M.G., Hon. D.Litt., first Chancellor of the University, has resigned on account of poor health. Sir Alister's resignation was accepted by the University Council with deep regret on March 18.

Sir Bede Callaghan, C.B.E., Hon. D.Sc., Deputy Chancellor, was elected by the Council to succeed Sir Alister (see Page 2). Both men have been members of the Council since 1966, the year in which the University received a full Council and we moved to our site at Shortland. Sir Alister was elected Chancellor in that year and, as Officer who presides at ceremonial occasions, has never missed an annual conferring of degrees ceremony and has awarded more than 4500 degrees to new graduates.

The Chancellor presides at all meetings of the Council and of all committees at which he is present. Sir Alister was chairman of the Council until last year, when poor health prevented him from attending, and officiated at openings of new buildings and ceremonies for the conferring of honorary degrees.

The Council recorded its gratitude to Sir Alister after the Vice-Chancellor, Professor D.W. George, made a statement of appreciation. The Vice-Chancellor said that Sir Alister, a grazier from St. Aubins, Scone, was born in the Hunter Valley in 1900. In Sir Alister the University obtained a Chancellor with national and international standing. He served in the R.A.A.F. in northern Australia in World War II and after an active career in local Government he entered the Senate for New South Wales in 1951 and was elected Senate President in 1953. He served a record term of 18 years as President of the Senate. Over these years Sir Alister devoted much time to parliamentary matters.

He was closely associated with the planning and development of the National Library of Australia, holding office as Chairman of the Australian Advisory Council on Bibliographical Services, Chairman of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Library Committee and Deputy Chairman of the Council of the National Library of Australia.

"He was also involved in the preparation of plans for a new Parliament House in Canberra as Chairman of a special Parliamentary Joint Select Committee. "Sir Alister was a representative for the Parliament, and an emissary for Australia, at many conferences, anniversaries, independence ceremonies and openings of parliaments overseas from 1955 to 1966. He held office on the General Council of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association and was Chairman in 1959 and 1960. "As Chancellor the the University of Newcastle he showed a great personal interest in the work and development of the University. He was admitted to an Honorary Degree of Doctor of Letters in 1966. He has been of great assistance to me and members of the Senior Administrative staff. "His firm, but invariably courteous, chairmanship will long be remembered by those who had the privilege of being on Council with him and particularly by student members whom he encouraged with a sympathetic understanding to play a full and important role," the Vice-Chancellor said.

The Council also expressed its gratitude to Lady McMullin for her interest in the University and for her ready support of the Chancellor in his attendance at University Functions.
UNIVERSITY GOVERNMENT REPORT TABLED

The Committee enquiring into the matter of University Government has completed its Report and recommended a number of changes in the present system of University Government.

The Report was tabled at the March 18 meeting of the University Council. When presenting its Report to the Council, the Committee expressed the belief that a period should be allowed for full and detailed discussion throughout the University of the issues which the Report raises, prior to this consideration by the Council. The Council accepted this and copies are being distributed throughout the University.

Recognising the considerable significance of the Report the Council decided that it should hold a special meeting to discuss it. The meeting is to be held on April 29. The Committee was created by the Council in July 1975 to review University Government. It advertised for submissions and subsequently published a "White Paper", which attracted a number of further submissions.

The Committee amended significantly some of the proposals contained in the "White Paper" in the light of the submissions and the discussion that publication generated.

CONVOCATION’S NEW LECTURE SERIES

Convocation has finalised the form of its new venture, University Inaugural Lectures. Academics appointed to Chairs at the University will be afforded the opportunity to give lectures in connection with their disciplines and research interests.

The Inaugural Lectures will be held at 5.30 p.m., a time regarded as convenient for members of staff and Convocation and students.

Among other things, they will serve as a way of introducing new Professors to the University community. Professor Trefor Morgan, the University's Foundation Professor of Medicine, will deliver the first Inaugural Lecture on April 27.

NEW CHANCELLOR HAS LOCAL ORIGINS

Sir Bede Callaghan, C.B.E., Hon. D.Sc., who has been elected Chancellor, has close ties with both Newcastle and its University.

Sir Bede was born in Newcastle and educated at Newcastle High School in the old building on The Hill now occupied by the Hunter Valley Theatre Company. One of his grandfathers came to Lake Macquarie in the 1860’s, whilst his other grandfather was the Headmaster of Hamilton Superior Public School at the turn of the century. His first appointment was as a Clerk in the Commonwealth Bank in Newcastle.

Sir Bede has succeeded Sir Alister McMillin as Chancellor of the University. He has been a member of the University Council since the formation of the first Council in 1966. In 1973 he was elected Deputy Chancellor and was the recipient of an Honorary Degree of Doctor of Science.

PROFESSOR MCAULEY MEMORIAL APPEAL

The James McAuley Memorial Appeal has been launched by the University of Tasmania. The aim is to endow an annual series of public lectures to be entitled the James McAuley Memorial Lectures and to be delivered by distinguished speakers in the Humanities. Professor McAuley, who published poetry and other literary works, was Professor of English at the University of Tasmania from 1961 until he died in October, 1974.

Mr. J.W. Armstrong, Secretary’s Division, has brochures relating to the appeal.

THE NEW UNIVERSITY OF N CASTLE CHOIR

Conductor: Ulric Burstein requires members for all sections, for a performance of Verdi’s Requiem on May 7th. The ability to sight sing is essential. New members should attend rehearsal immediately at The Great Hall on Mondays at 7 p.m.

Here is the opportunity to perform great music with celebrity soloists and a full symphony orchestra. Enquiries: Phone Ulric Burstein at Conservatorium on 23-961.
The composer is confident the fanfare will create the musical work. Convocation gave Mr. Butterly the commission to obtain a permanent reminder of 1977 - the 25th anniversary of the opening of Newcastle University College. The composer is confident the piece will be ready for the Graduation Ceremonies on April 23 and 30. The fanfare will be played to announce the arrival of the Chancellor at the door of the Great Hall. The procession will then be played as a march theme for the arrival of the official party; it will be repeated at the close of the ceremony to signal the departure of the official party. The two pieces will be written for brass and percussion. A scoring for organ will also be provided, perhaps not in time for this year's ceremonies. Nigel Butterly has been writing music since he was 12. With Richard Meale and Peter Sculthorpe, he belongs to a group of Australian composers which commands international attention. He established himself as one of the leading "new wave" composers of the early 1960's with Laudes, which he composed following a year's study in England. He was awarded the $3200 Italia Prize with Head of Fire in 1966. His considerable output of musical works includes film scores and music for plays.

The second Professor in the Department of Commerce is 40-year-old Alan J. Williams, who comes to us from the Western Australian Institute of Technology in Perth. Professor Williams was born in Tasmania and holds a degree of Bachelor of Commerce and a Diploma in Education from the University of Tasmania. He proceeded from University into teaching, and then during the 1960's was awarded a Bachelor of Education degree by the University of Melbourne. He became involved in management consulting (for smaller firms in Tasmania and then, seeking further challenge and the opportunity to carry on further studies, he went to the Western Australian Institute of Technology as a Lecturer in Business Studies in 1970. He was promoted Head of the Department of Management at W.A.I.T in 1974. Meanwhile he had commenced a Master of Commerce Degree and was invited to upgrade it to Ph.D. level. In 1975 he was a visiting Senior Lecturer in the Department of Accounting and Financial Management at the University of New England, which invited him because of his interest in management and the entrepreneur. Professor Williams is one of Australia's leading authorities on small business and entrepreneurship. The title of his Ph.D. thesis was "A Study of the Characteristics and Performance of Small Business Owners/Managers in Western Australia." The study was prompted by the high failure rate in the Australian small business world: a fact evidenced by his conclusions that over 90% of all business failures involved firms employing fewer than 10 staff, and that 30% of all small firms fail within one year of their establishment and 69% survive less than five years. As part of the study he interviewed 290 operators (and failed operators) of small business in Western Australia and found that the fundamental factor underlying small business failure in the vast majority of cases was inability to manage effectively and efficiently through the debilitating influence of stress. Professor Williams has been involved with various personal characteristics and devised a technique for predicting entrepreneurial effectiveness, such method using an analysis of factors relating to psychological stress in the entrepreneurial role. It is not unknown that some banks in Perth are using Professor Williams' techniques, and much interest is evident in the potential for alleviating not only the enormous economic loss associated with the 9-10,000 small business failures annually, but the serious social and human problems involved.

Professor Williams is rewriting his thesis with a view to publishing it as a book and preparing manuals on Small Business Management. He is known for his academic publications and several others are in the Press. The Worker in Australia, a book to be published by Queensland University Press, which has been edited by Dr. A. Bowdow, includes a chapter by Professor Williams, entitled "The Independent Entrepreneur". The new Professor is keen to communicate with proprietors of small businesses. He is active as a contributor to popular newspapers and trade and professional journals. He also recognises the great need for effective training/educational courses in all aspects of small business ownership and management and continues to be involved in workshops and seminars designed to assist these people.

When he was a Tasmanian he was active on the athletics field and was, for some years a finalist in the hammer-throwing at the National Amateur Athletics Championships. He is married with four sons and plans to settle at Valentine.

GRANT MADE TO STAFF MEMBER

Dr. T.K. Roberts, Lecturer in Biological Sciences, has been awarded a $1,829 grant by the Australian Pig Industry Research Committee for a project in connection with the preservation of boar semen by freezing.
STAFF MEMBER RETIRES AFTER 12 YEARS

Mr. Errol McLauchlan, who retired after 12 years' service with the University, was described by his Head of Department as a man who had helped the University achieve its aims. Mr. McLauchlan, a Professional Officer, joined the staff of the Department of Physics when the University became autonomous in January 1965. Prior to coming to Newcastle he was attached to the Physics Department of the University of Canterbury, New Zealand from which several of his colleagues at this University, including Professor C. Ellyett, Assoc. Professor C. Keay, Dr. B. Fraser and Mr. P. McNabb, also emanated.

Before that Mr. McLauchlan was a radio serviceman for a firm in South Canterbury, New Zealand and a radar specialist for the Royal Air Force in the United Kingdom during the Second World War. Professor Ellyett traced Mr. McLauchlan's long career in radio, radar and electronics when he spoke at a farewell dinner in the Staff House on March 18, the day on which Mr. McLauchlan retired.

Members of staff in the Physics Department, and their spouses, attended to honour Mr. McLauchlan and his wife. Professor Ellyett stated that Mr. McLauchlan taught radio and electronics as an Instructor in the Royal New Zealand Air Force from 1952 to 1958. On his transfer to the University of Canterbury he started using radar to obtain meteor echoes in the Southern Hemisphere. The team working on this project progressively grew and many reports and papers were written, often with Mr. McLauchlan as co-author. Among several other research projects on which he worked was the recording by Air Force Photometer of the high altitude nuclear experiment conducted at Johnson Island in 1962. Mr. McLauchlan was Dominion Pres-paigns and University Government.

The main emphasis in first term would be around education issues, defending student against the Fraser Government's cuts to education spending, the threatened reintroduction of fees, the freezing of T.E.A.S. payments, and the introduction of a loans scheme for students. This campaign would culminate on a national mobilisation day on 28th April.

STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION THEME FOR 1977

The incoming President of the Students' Association, Mr. Leo Walsh, said that fostering student activism on a grass roots level would be the central feature of the programmes of the Students' Representative Council (S.R.C.) this year.

He cited the mobilisation of 50 student hours notice to attend a demonstration against Malcolm Fraser on Friday March 10th as a good indication of the potential for action that exists among students at this University if they are given leadership. The present inactivity among students right across Australia must end this year if all the traditions of student participation in the University and social involvement are to end with a pathetic whimper. To this end the S.R.C. would see itself primarily as a facilitating and initiative-taking body for students, trying to activate involvement around clubs and societies, political and education cam-

THE VICE-CHANCELLOR'S FIRST TERM MEETING WITH STAFF will be held in the ARTS/DRAMA THEATRE on TUESDAY, APRIL 5, 1977 at 1.00 P.M.

THE UNIVERSITY has arranged for regular visits by officers from the Tertiary Education Assistance Scheme this year. A representative will be available for interview every Thursday of First Term in Room T29 (Temporary Buildings opposite Mathematics). It is hoped to continue this arrangement into Second and Third Terms.

Any student having difficulties with his allowance under the Scheme should contact the T.E.A.S. Officer direct. No appointments are necessary. Students can expect to receive their monthly allowance this year on the following dates: 5th April, 3rd May, 31st May, 28th June, 26th July, 23rd August, 20th September, 18th October and 15th November.

WE'RE HAVING A ROUND-UP

The Commonwealth Bank on campus is having an old passbook round-up. All those old bank passbooks that you haven't used for years and have only a few dollars in them. It doesn't matter what bank they are from, whether it be the First National of Kathmandu or any other bank. Just bring them into the Commonwealth Bank on campus and they will collect the funds for you and put them into your present account, or open a new account.
SPORTING NEWS

The President of the Sports Union (Mr. B. O'Shea) will present a trophy for this year's Campus Competitions. A trophy will also be awarded for every one of the competitions. The Amenities Office is hopeful that competitions in touch football, soccer, squash, netball, basketball, badminton, table tennis and hockey will be conducted this year. The indoor soccer and volleyball ball competitions are scheduled to begin on April 19 at the Auchmuty Sports Centre and Newcastle C.A.E. Entry forms are available from the Amenities Office and the offices of Departments. Practice facilities for volleyball have been installed at No. 1 Oval. Those people wanting to use them should get in touch with the Pavilion Office.

After the success of this event last year, the Aquatic Carnival on April 16 at Raymond Terrace is almost certain to be a popular University gathering. On the rowing side, crews from Haberfield and Manning River have been invited to compete against University for the James King Cup. Edwards Hall (last year's winners) will defend the cup for Inter-Faculty Rowing competition. The Staff Rowing Race will result in a crew winning the Vice-Chancellor's trophy. Medicine were the victors in 1976, its rowers being Professors Clarke, White and Engel and Messrs. Birch and Pullen. Professor Vinson, who will be in the crew this year, has issued a challenge to Staff in other faculties and departments. The Aquatic Carnival offers facilities for a number of activities besides rowing (sailing, water skiing, canoeing) and members of the University and their families are encouraged to take part.

The final days of the cricket season saw just one University team in the District semi-finals. This was the Fifth Grade team, known as The Venerables, Gentlemen, who finished in fourth place. In the semi-final against Charlstown I on March 19 the Venerables batted first and scored 62; Charlstown scored 83 to win the game.

The match between the Administrations of this University and the University of New South Wales resulted in a clear win for N.S.W. Newcastle batted first on the Village Green at Kensington, Joe Drozyga scoring 28 and Harry Carroll 21. In reply N.S.W. accumulated 167, our best bowler being Geoff Ashurst, 2 for 15.

SCAMPERING TO KEEP HEALTH

As mentioned in the last News, University Athletics Club is to conduct a Campus Scamper or Fun Run, on the Campus on March 28 beginning at 12.30 p.m. The object is fitness. Individuals, or teams of three, may enter. The three-mile course commences and finishes at No. 1 Oval; it crosses Scobie's Heath (behind Engineering) and the bridges to Engineering and Metallurgy, skirts the western precincts of the University, zigzags along the Rankin Drive frontage and passes alongside No. 1 Oval.

It has been walked in 45 minutes by a Professor nearing retirement, jogged by a resident medico in the same time and run by an athletic "super-fit" in about 20 minutes. Some recognition of success can be expected by the winner and team winners. They will be presented with a silver watch by the President (Professor R.G. Tanner) at the conclusion. Dr. R. Burke, the University's Medical Officer had the following advice for would-be runners:

Question - Why exercise?
Answer - The answer is that it reduces your susceptibility to heart disease and can be a helpful aid to dietary weight loss. It also promotes a more positive attitude on life. Caution - Persons over 30 years, or those with queries about their health, are advised to have a medical check-up before running.
