Newcastle and the 1977-79 Triennium

With the tabling in Canberra last week of the Universities Commission Report for the 1977-79 Triennium, information is now on hand regarding the recurrent and capital funds to be made available to the University over the next three years.

In his commentary on the Report, which University News ($000) publishes today, the Vice-Chancellor clarifies a number of matters concerning the university.

Professor George explains that under the new system of three-year rolling programs a firm allocation is determined in the Budget context for the first year of the period, and planning guidelines are indicated for the two subsequent years. In the case of the Medical School, for which earmarked grants are proposed until classes are being conducted in all five years of the course, the planning figures extend up till 1982.

"In the light of the financial guidelines set by the Government, the Universities Commission has set down the undergraduate, higher degree research, higher degree coursework and total student loads anticipated for each Australian university until 1979. "For Newcastle the student enrolments, the total student loads (W.S.U.) and the general recurrent grants (expressed in December quarter 1975 cost levels) are:

"These figures include the first intake of medical students in 1978, but do not include the earmarked recurrent grants for the Medical School, for which the following additional sums will be available (December quarter 1975 cost levels):

"The projected figures for 1978 and 1979 are $695,000 and $665,000 respectively, within which identical sums are earmarked for medical school purposes. (These figures are again expressed in December quarter 1975 cost levels).

Special research grants for 1977 remain at the 1976 level of $85,000, but increase to $95,000 for each of 1978 and 1979.

"On the capital building funds side, in common with all universities, no new major buildings are to be commenced in 1977. However a grant of $360,000 has been made available to the University in 1977 for minor building works (defined as less than $100,000 per project), for site works and site services.

"For planning purposes, recommended sums (December quarter 1975 cost levels) for major projects scheduled to start in 1978 and 1979 are:

STAFF ASSOCIATIONS
CRITICAL OF BUDGET

The first annual meeting of the Federation of Australian University Staff Associations held at this University has criticised certain features of the Commonwealth Budget.
Approximately 40 delegates from Staff Associations at every Australian University debated major issues affecting their members and formulated policies.
The President (Dr Harry Medlin, of the University of South Australia) stated that the meeting had been concerned with current major issues in tertiary education including fees, the recurrent budget, the report of the Academic Salaries Tribunal and the Seventh Report of the Universities Commission.
The Federation had carried resolutions criticising among other things:
The new system of rolling criceniums for Commonwealth funding of universities.

The proposal fo the Treasurer (Mr Lynch) to reintroduce tuition fees for students wanting higher and second degrees and overseas students. The deferment of a decision on the review of the Tertiary Education Allowance Scheme until October.
Dr Medlin said the delegates were enchanted by the University's campus and had gained considerable help from the meeting.
He considered that deferment of decisions on such matters as the reintroduction of university fees and the review of TEAS was not a new manoeuvre.

and Newcastle are stated to have been at a level 'lower than normal'.
"It is disappoing in this respect that no funds have been made available for the proposed extensions to the Architecture building.
The further deferment of the start of the School of Law is stated to have been influenced by 'the availability of law course in other institutions in New South Wales and the University's commitment to the development of a new Medical School.
"The fact that the recurrent grant for 1977 is identical with that in 1976 ($131,250,000), despite the increased number of students, is a clear indication of the difficulty facing the University in maintaining teaching standards and in providing for inevitable increases in costs (incremental creep', etc.) as well as any new development," Professor George said.

ium are now available in the Auchmuty Library for consultation by staff and students).

grant of $35,000 will be available for Edwards Hall, or approximately the same level of support as in 1976.
"A careful analysis of the Commission's Report will be necessary before final conclusions can be drawn as to the overall impact on the University. Uncertainties remain as to the effects on student numbers of the proposed reintro-duction of tuition fees for higher and second degrees in 1977. An announcement will be made later this year of the Government's intentions in this matter, as well as as the results of the review of student assistance schemes. A further uncertainty relates to the replacement of the existing cost supplementation arrangements by 'less automatic process for cost increases', which could seriously erode the real resources available.
"The substantial building program for the University derives from the Commission's analysis of past building grants, which have been made available for the proposed extensions to the Architecture building.
"The reintroduct of tuition fees for higher and second degrees in 1977 is stated to have been influenced by 'the availability of law course in other institutions in New South Wales and the University's commitment to the development of a new Medical School.

ment," Professor George said.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir,

When a start was made on the development of the Shortland site for university purposes in 1964 the area was noted not only for its Australian trees but also for its native birds.
I have often feared, as we erect new buildings and carefully mark the unconsumed trees, that we might be discouraging birds, although you can still see, and hear, many in the watercourses set aside as reserves.
I know that the Master Planners are desirous of creating an artificial lake, or ponds system, which would attract some species of birds.
I suggest that in addition to feeders and bird baths be installed to encourage birds, particularly rossellas and the native species.

Yours faithfully,

J.W. ARMSTRONG.

CHARLES BIRCH TO LECTURE

Professor Charles Birch, Challis Professor of Biology in the University of Sydney, has accepted an invitation to be this year's Newcastle Lecturer.
He will speak on the subject, Australia In a Just and Sustainable Global Society, at Edwards Hall on October 8 at 8.15 p.m.

FIRST ALAA CONGRESS

About 120 linguists from 26 tertiary educational institutions in Australia met at the University from August 23 to 25 and agreed to form the Applied Linguistics Association of Australia. The ALAA has grown out of the Australian Universities Language and Literature Association's Language Laboratories Workshop, which had met annually since 1965.

One of the chief objectives of the new Association is to encourage and promote study and research in the application of linguistic theories in the teaching and learning of languages at all educational levels.

The main venue of the Congress was Lecture Theatre R02, where a number of papers were delivered on aspects of Language Learning in Australian Society. Several papers were concerned with teaching migrant children how to speak in English.

In a break in the Congress the Foundation President (Mr Ross Steele, of the Department of French Studies, University of Sydney) explained that one in five Australian-born children had at least one parent born in a non-English speaking Country.

Ms Gail Robinson, of the Centre for Research in Measurement and Evaluation for the N.S.W. Department of Education, said a migrant child's cognitive development was slowed down until he/she learnt the medium of instruction and this often caused alienation at home. Professor Michael Halliday, Head of the Linguistics Department of the University of Sydney, gave the keynote address at the Congress. The title of his address was "Is Learning a Second Language Like Learning a First Language All Over Again?"

Other officers of the ALAA are:

Vice-Presidents, Mrs G. Reeves, Supervisor of the Language Laboratory, University of Newcastle and Mr Brian Quinn, Director of the Language Centre, University of Melbourne; Secretary, Mr Brian Taylor, Department of German, University of Sydney; Treasurer, Mr B. McCarthy, Department of French, University of Wollongong and Editor of Publications, Mr D. Ingram, of Mt Gravatt C.A.E., Queensland.

RESEARCH IN TANZANIA

The Commonwealth Department of Education has informed the University of information it has received from the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the United Republic of Tanzania concerning control of research projects in that country. Details are available from the Secretary Professor Kevin Lindgren, Head of the Department of Legal Studies, is the author of a book, Time in the Performance of Contracts, and co-editor, with Dr Colin Aislabie, Senior Lecturer in Economics, of a book, The Australian Firm. The Australian Firm is a collection of essays written, with only four exceptions, by staff members of this university. Time in the Performance of Contracts was published by Butterworths and The Australian Firm by McGraw-Hill. In former Professor Lindgren is primarily concerned with exploring the question of what circumstances will people be relieved from contractual obligations. It is directed at judges, barristers, solicitors and students in Law Schools. The Australian Firm deals with legal and accounting procedures associated with establishing, conducting and terminating a business in Australia and government economic policies which affect trade and industry. The Australian Firm is an outstanding Netball player. This week she is playing as member of the New South Wales team in the Australian Championships in Brisbane.

University's four women's hockey teams have reached the semi-finals this season. This is the first time the A and A2 teams have reached the semi-finals. The following officers were elected for the 1976/77 season:

Chairmen of Schools have discussed the question of plagiarism as it affects University students. They believe that many students were unaware that plagiarism was an offence, as at school students had been encouraged to complete projects based on assembling other authors' material. Recently a Murdoch student was denied credit for coursework on the grounds of plagiarism. After serious consideration action was not taken under the Statute of Obligations, in this instance.

Students should be double aware of the issue, as open assessment procedures make it possible for them to plagiarise more easily. A discussion on plagiarism may be found in Lorraine Marshall and Frances Beacon's Learning Skills Guide. The quote: "d. Plagiarism: Plagiarism is literary theft. It occurs when the words or ideas of another are used without acknowledgement. If you quote from someone else, put the words in quotation marks and treat them as a quotation. Do not fail to acknowledge the source. If you paraphrase the words and thoughts of another, make sure the words and sentence structure your own - but still do not fail to acknowledge the source. Don't plagiarise. For one thing, it can make you too dependent on others, and for another, you can be found out with awesome ease - remember that your instructor is likely to know your source at least as well as you do. If you plagiarise, your instructor is likely to fail your assignment."

CATHOLIC MEETING

The University's Catholic Association will hold an Extraordinary General Meeting on Thursday, September 2 (commencing with Mass at 1 p.m.) at which office-bearers for 1977 will be elected. The meeting will take place in the Basil Helmore Room in the Union. The meeting is particularly important, and all those able to do so are urged to attend - and nominate! UNCA holds regular meetings on the first and third Thursday of each month at 1 p.m. in the Helmore Room. Again, all interested are invited to attend. Suggestions for activities for 1977 will be most welcome.

PLAYS

There are also new Mass times: Tuesdays, Fridays and second and fourth Thursday of each month, 1 p.m., the room adjoining the Community Office in the Union Basement; first and third Thursday of each month, 1 p.m., Helmore Room.

MAGAZINE APPEARS

(Vol. 1 No. 1 of Theatre-Australia has just been published and sells for $1.25.)

Bruce Knappett's and Robert Page's new magazine attempts to answer the question of how to comment on Australian theatre. It is the first national monthly theatre magazine to appear in Australia, giving a list of stage productions across Australia, criticism of recent productions including the Hunter Valley Theatre Company's version of Equus, a play script and articles appertaining to the theatre, film, TV and radio.

SPORTING NEWS

Jillian Paterson, staff member from the Department of Community Programmes, is an outstanding Netball player. This week she is playing as member of the New South Wales team in the Australian Championships in Brisbane.

At a meeting on July 30, a group of cricketers agreed to the formation of the University of Newcastle One Day Cricket Club. The membership of the Club is open to students and full-time members of staff who are interested in playing one day cricket.

The following officers were elected for the 1976/77 season:

President: P.W. Kleeman
Hon. Secretary: F.C. Hawkins
Hon. Treasurer: H. Floyer

The Club has applied for affiliation with the Sports Union and elected Mr D. Karpin as its representative on that body. Mr Karpin is a life member of the Sports Union. The executive of the new club was impressed by the enthusiasm of those present at the meeting and are confident that the Club could field at least one team each Saturday.

A meeting of the Club will be held on Tuesday, August 31, in the Arts/Drama Theatre at 1 p.m. and all interested in playing one day cricket are invited to attend.
FESTIVAL OF SIX FEATURE FILMS

One of the films from the Sydney Film Festival, 'The Lost Honour of Katherine Blum' (West Germany) exposes the seamy, vicious side of journalism.

Films from Norway, West Germany, Poland, Australia, Russia and Greece which were entered in the last Sydney Film Festival will be screened at the Civic Theatre on September 24, 25 and 26. Sydney Film Festival, in conjunction with the Department of Community Programmes, will present highlights from the Sydney Film Festival.

The Australian entry, The Devil’s Playground, was voted the most popular film at the 1976 Sydney Film Festival by the Festival subscribers. The film had such strong contenders as Germany's The Lost Honour of Katharina Blum (which came second). Russia's The First Swallow was voted fourth most popular.

These and other top films from the Festival will be screened at The Civic. The other three films will be Waves, from Norway, Greece's The Travelling Players and The Balance from Poland.

The Devil's Playground represented Australia in the Directors' Fortnight at the recent Cannes Film Festival. In July the film won six of the 1976 Australian Film Awards.

Tickets for the Festival will be available soon at David Jones, The Civic, the Union Shop and the C.A.E. The cost is $9.50 ($7.50 for students).

LOCALLY-WRITTEN ROCK OPERA

Allan McFadden is a Newcastle-born composer of stage shows. The Music Club at Newcastle College of Advanced Education is rehearsing his newest production, Jason James, in preparation for a season in the Griffiths Duncan Theatre from September 29 to October 2.

McFadden was educated at Gateshead High School and studied at Newcastle Conservatorium of Music and the C.A.E. In 1974 he wrote and produced his first production, Quest for the Golden Chalice. In 1975 he was commissioned by Cardiff High School to write Johnny Fabulous. This show was an enormous success, playing for an extended season. Jason James is a rock opera based on the two Greek myths - the Golden Fleece and Jason and the Argonauts. The composer commenced writing in early March, 1976 and by mid-May the score and libretto were complete. Rehearsals began during this period once the first act was complete.

The cast includes students: Rod Lester (Jason); Robyn Tapp (Merla); Ian Miller (Zeus); Paul Scott (Narrator); Debbie Middleton; Donna Pinkerton; Wendy Stuart (Argonauts); Phil Stevenson (Pelias); Sue Wynn (Medea); Ronella Williams (High Priestess). Admission costs adults $3 and students $2.

Third Term is a busy period for the University Health Service. If you are planning end-of-year overseas trips, requiring vaccinations, it will be helpful if you have them done early in the term.

Other immunizations, which you are welcome to make enquiries about, are for Tetanus, Polio and, for the women, Rubella.

In progress at present is a group for both students and staff interested in talking about weight and diet. We hope to achieve more than just the talking.

To begin early Third Term: a group about pregnancy - facts and feelings.

If anyone is interested in joining either of these groups please contact the Health Service, Union Building, or Ext. 763.

ACADEMICS INTERCHANGE WITH YUGOSLAVIA

The Minister for Education (The Hon. Eric Bedford) was paid a visit recently by His Excellency, Mr. Alexander Sokorac, Ambassador of the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia. The Ambassador suggested that universities might wish to become associated with the interchange of Australian academics with those of tertiary institutions in Yugoslavia and the Minister agreed to make this known to the universities of this State.

Mr. Sokorac had in mind in particular academic members of staff interested in the Slovak languages or cultures. However, it was considered that the interests of some members of staff might be more general than this.

Professor K.R. Dutton, head of the Department of Modern Languages, has further details.

MONEY PROBLEMS?!

Everybody needs some money sometime, and that’s where the Commonwealth Bank comes in. The Bank provides money to credit-worthy people for many worthwhile purposes. Personal Loans are available to people who have a certain credit standing, so there are no worries about mortgages and security for most loans. And if you think your special project worthy, ask the Bank’s list of Personal Loans, ask the Bank anyway. The Bank has many likely already lent money for it to someone else. NO - you don’t have to be a customer of the “Commonwealth” to approach it for a Personal Loan.

On the other hand, if you have some money to invest and you want safety and a good return the Commonwealth Bank has ideal investments which return you a good rate of interest - with absolute safety.

INTEREST BEARING DEPOSITS

These are ideal for people who have some money they can put away for a time - three, six, 12, 24 or 48 months. Interest is currently from 8% to 9%. There is no limit to the amount you can invest. Interest commences from the day the money is invested. Interest rates are fixed throughout the term of the investment.

SAVINGS INVESTMENT ACCOUNTS

This is a special type of savings account, paying a much higher rate of interest than any ordinary savings account. You leave the funds in your Savings Investment Account for a minimum of three months - or as long as you like. You give one month’s notice of withdrawal when you want to draw some, or all, of the money. The minimum amount to be invested is $500 - and you can add to this in amounts of $100, or more.

You have a bank passbook as a record of your investment interest, at a current rate of 8.5%, added in June and, if you want to, you can withdraw this interest immediately. Or you can leave it there to help your Savings Investment Account grow that much faster.

The Bank has other forms of investment, some especially designed for people with large amounts of surplus money. Your best plan is to discuss investing with your Commonwealth Bank manager or phone the Bank on the campus (Ext. 491).
