

Title	Monty Python, Episode 29: the Argument Clinic sketch
Director
Date
Area	Logic/critical thinking
Theme	Arguments
Plot Summary	A man (Michael Palin) goes to a service that provides an argument for a fee, and ends up in the office of Mr Vibrating (John Cleese). The ensuing discussion includes argument over whether what is going on is in fact an argument. Palin: 'an argument is an intellectual process, while contradiction is just the automatic gainsaying of anything the other person says.' Cleese: 'No it isn't.' Helps show what an argument is not, and what philosophers commonly mean by the term 'argument'. Sketch: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=kQFKtI6gn9Y Script: http://www.ibras.dk/montypython/episode29.htm#11
Key Scenes
Relevant Text	