

Title	The Last Supper
Director	Stacy Title
Date	1995
Area	Moral Philosophy
Theme	Utilitarianism
Plot Summary	A group of liberal American students decide to do away with obnoxious right-wing types by inviting them over to dinner and poisoning them. They espouse a basically utilitarian position – murdering such people is justified in the light of the overall good that will result. Much debate along the lines of - would you murder Hitler if you met him in 1920, knowing what he was going to become?
