

The Cato during the last week received on board 24 tons of coals, procured at the new Colliery at Hunter's River, and brought round by the James and Raven, belonging to Thomas Raby. The nett sum for which the above freight sold, amounts to 63l. 11s. exclusive of the duty, an additional 5s. on every ton. These coals are of superior quality to those formerly procured at the River, and promise to the Colony a lasting resource.

The above vessel has also taken in a quantity of she-oak for the English market; and we are credibly informed that this wood is allowed to rank in Europe, with the mahogany of Jamaica.

Sydney Gazette Sunday, June 12, 1803, 3a

The Cato during the last week received on board 24 tons of coal, procured at the new Colliery at Hunter's River, and brought round by the James and Raven, belonging to Thomas Raby. The net sum for which the above freight sold, amounts to 63l. 11s, exclusive of the duty, an additional 5s. on every ton. These coals are of such superior quality to those formerly procured at the River, and promise to the Colony a lasting resource.